Big Days for Campbell in The Offing As Opening Gun to Sound Starting Festival

The big day is almost here. Saturday at 5:30 p.m. the four-day carnival, working with the Old Settlers' celebration will open for its first night. Floodlights will blaze over Campbell and crowds will pack the carnival grounds, to ride, to play games, to eat, and to have fun — real Campbell fun.

Radio Station KEEN will be on hand Tuesday, February 22, Old Settlers' Day, to broadcast Campbell's entire street parade. They will set up a broadcasting unit on the roof of Hubert's Furniture Store and retell the parade in all its splendor to the people who cannot attend the gala celebration.

Queen entrants are stepping up last minute sales of tickets for the American Legion dance Tuesday night so that they might receive the title of Queen of Old Settlers' Day. All Campbell is awaiting breahtlessly to hear who will be the queen and receive the "dream" presents donated for her majesty.

In addition to those gifts already mentioned in the Press, merchants in Campbell have annouced more prizes for the lucky girl. Jame Rare Plant Nursery will give her a camellia plant; Jeffers, a sweater; Lico's market, $2.50 grocery order; J&A Market, $4.00 grocery order; Barney Barrett, 11x14 portrait of the queen; and Campbell Feed and Grain, tennis racket. All prizes are on display at Brand's Furniture and Appliance store.

Annoucement of the queen will come on Tuesday, according to H. R. Strickland, chairman. "Entrants must turn in their results and tickets early Tuesday to be considered for the title," he said.

Jay Kanney, Jr., his music and his orchestra, will be featured at the American Legion dance Tuesday night. Kanney comes to Campbell well recommeded by emcee for the dance Steve Butler, theater manager here. Butler says he has known Kanney for several months and that he is tops in local orchestra music.

At the dance Butler will preside at the coronation of the Queen. Homer Hyde, chairman, will present the Whiskerino award. Refreshments will be served at the dance.

T. A. Cutting, local historian, was the first Campbell man to aired over KEEN Monday in a series of broadcasts on Old Settlers' Day. Yesterday Budd Levenberg and James Brand were heard and today at 2 p.m. the Footlighters will be on. Laurance J. Hill and Forrest Reese will close the series in a broadcast Monday.

Radio KLOK will give a ten minute program dedicated to Old Settlers' Day and several spot announcements.

The Campbell Press will distribute 4000 copies of their Old Settlers' Day issue today to all residents in the community.

At Tuesday's meeting of committeemen it was announced that the queen will be aired over a Beverly-Burbank radio program February 23.

On Tuesday, March 8, general chairman Forrest Reese will meet with the chairmen of each committee for Old Settlers' Day and hear a complete written report from each of them. All committee chairmen should plan to attend, Reese remarked.

For the benefit of those attending the carnival any one of the four days, the Western Gravel company has donated a load of gravel to be spread around the grounds.

Men who attended the final meeting of the Old Settlers' Planning Commission were Forrest Reese, Ed Hubert, Harold Strickland, Barney Barrett, Bill Maderis, Larry Hill, Steve Butler, Jim Brand, Jack Payne, and Budd Levenberg.

The students will ride in matched pairs. All experienced riders, the boys will be mounted on beautiful horses. The mounted group will start from Montezuma to Campbell and will ride home again following the festivities and parade on February 22.

The Montezuma School for Boys in the hills of Los Gatos features many athletic activities for its student enrollment. The boys not only learn to ride but participate in swimming, hiking, baskeball and tennis.

FRANK H. CUTTING TO SHOW PAINTINGS

Frank H. Cutting, Campbell's well-known artist, will show many of his oil paintings in an exhibit at the Campbell Uion grammar school Tuesday, February 22.

As yet the location of the exhibit room has not been chosen but signs leading to the prominent artist's works will be in the grammar school.

Cutting started painting seriously about 29 years ago by doing landscape scenes. "I've always been interested in art," he said, "even when I was in my teens. But in the twenties I began painting more than before."

Cutting started painting in oils and has never changed. He took all of the art courses offered while attending the Normal School. Now San Jose State college. He graduated from there in 1897.

"I like the great, great outdoors," said Cutting when queried about his favorite subject to paint. "Once or twice I've tried portraits in oils and they've always turned out to look like characters," he chuckled. "Anyway, it's the outdoor scenes of the beautiful country in the West that I love to paint."

The Missions of California were the subjects of the local artist at one time. A patron ordered approximately half of the missions in southern California to be painted as he already possessed about half of the Missions by another artist. "I really enjoyed that that trip," Cutting said.

Cutting went to College of the Pacific several years ago to study art courses being offered there.

Oregon and Mt. Hood, the area around the Columbia river, and Pacific Grove are three of the artist's favorite haunts. "But if it's a loveley scene,' said Cutting, "It really doesn't make any difference where I paint."

Oops! They're Late

Oops!—Too late for the official program but Brand's Furniture store, Leo Frank, and the Moorpark school will be represented in the parade on Old Settlers' Day.

Brand's store will sponsor a decorated float while Leo Frank of Montezuma school, will ride on "Chalan" his South American Peruvian stallion. Moorpark school will feature a safety patrol marching unit.

Look for these entries. They may not be in the souvenir program but they'll be in the parade strutting with the rest of them. Watch for the late ones!

"All 'Pau' Now" "The Little Grass Shack" "Calling To Me"

Pretty, blonde 10 year old Deana Stearns will dance at the Old Settler's Day Dance to be held Tuesday night, February 22. The dance starts at 8:00 p.m. and will be held at the Campbell Union High School. It is sponsored by the American Legion Campbell Post 596 and is part of the four day celebration comemmorating the founding fathers of Campbell.

Through the courtesy of the J. & A. Market in Campbell Deana is to be featured on the same program with Jay Kanney, Jr. and his orchestra. She has been interpreting the Hawaiian Dances since the early age of three. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stearns, left San Jose for Honolulu late in 1941 and was there three weeks prior to the attack on Pearl Harbor. The toddler easily picked up the hip-swinging island rhythms. She studied the hula under a native instructor and showed a marked aptitude for the expressive dances.

Deana was one of the first and youngest performers to entertain service men ni the Hawaiian bases. Two years later, her parents moved to Los Angeles where she became a member of a Hawaiian troop and danced in veterans hospitals from Camp White, Oregon to the Navy Hospital in San Diego. She received many invitations for return engagements. The famous Hollywood Canteen was one of her favorite spots.

The war ended, but not Deana's love for the hula. She continues to entertain in veterans hospitals. The Stearns family recently returned to the Santa Clara valley and are now living at 787 Shamrock Drive, Campbell.

Will you take a look at those whiskers: The man-size beards are being grown by Campbell residents in anticipation of the Whiskerino prize to be awarded on Old Settlers' Day, February 22, in Campbell. Four of the entrants are shown here left to right: Bob Wareham, Norm Corvello, Junior Wirth, and Cel Gerevas.

Jewelry Store Will Display Historical Items In Window

You'll see a lot of history this week if you look into the display window of Johns Jewelry store in Virginia City. Because on exhibit they have watches that date back to 1825.

Francis Crofut, watch instructor at San Jose State college, has loaned the local jewelry store several things from his personal collection in connection with Old Settlers' Day here.

"We have one watch that is an exact duplicate of the one carried by Abe Lincoln in 1862," said Orville Johns, proprietor. "This particular watch was made in Boston in 1862 and is only 5000 serial numbers off from the one owned by Lincoln."

Another old watch on display is the one donated to the college by Earl Bothwell. It is one of the 1200 Oday watches of its kind made over 100 years ago.

One of the most fascinating pieces on display is an old ship's chronometer made in Liverpool, England, in 1825 by Robert Roskell. It was loaned to the Navy in World War II until Hamilton Watch company could get them out on a production basis. "The interesting thing about chronometers," said Johns, "is that their basic design hasn't altered in over 100 years. That's why the Navy could still use this one." The chronometer also was loaned to Johns by Crofut.

An American flag with the 13 original states represented in the stars, is also on exhibit. The flag is owned by Verle Grizzle, Campbell.

Mrs. J.W. Knowles To Head PTA Party March 5

Mrs. J. W. Knowles has been appointed chairman of the card party, sponsored by the high school PTA, to be given March 5. The party will be unique in that all types of cards, including bridge, pinochle, whist and pedro may be played.

"We are going to urge people to organize their own tables,' 'said Mrs. Knowles. "It will be a social evening with home made cake and coffee served for refreshments. Two attractive door prizes will be featured."

The party is for the benefit of the permanent Scholarship Fund being established by Campbell Union High school under PTA auspices.

The students belonging to the Scholarship Federation will sell tickets, tend doors and wash dishes. "Come and bring friends," urges Mrs. Knowles, "and help worthy students receive scholarships."

Assisting Mrs. Knowles are Mrs. George D. Robertson, Mrs. Herman Rice, Mrs. Alfred Wettiz, Mrs. John Cantoni and Mrs. Laurance Hill.

Kiwanis Hears Dr. Fassen Talk On 'Europe Today'

Dr. Gustav Fassen was the guest Tuesday of the Kiwanis club at their meeting in the Country Woman's club. He spoke on Europe today.

Chairman for the day was Henry Jewell. It was announced at the meeting that the Kiwanis will not meet next week at their usual time due to the Old Settlers' celebration. Instead the local club will travel to Mt. View Wednesday for an inter-club meeting. Lowell Bradford, county criminologist, is to speak on scientific crime detection.

Visitors at the meeting from San Jose were Andy Andrew, Jack A. Keefe; Los Gatos, Tom Carey, William Carpener; San Marino, Fred Bradmon. Bruce Abernathy, guest student from the high school, was introduced by C. P. Klassen.

Dr. Fassen gave an up-to-date picture of his interruption of the events happening in Europe today.

He traced the history of Europe for the past century, with its culture and technical height of development, its wars, its dominance over the world in all of its complex affairs. He compared its finality to the decline of the Roman Empire and said the leadership is passing to the United States.

"Russia is a giant," he said, "with a super inferiority complex. She is afraid to show herself for comparison with the democratic countries. A communist is one who has nothing and is willing to share it with everybody."

The turmoil in the world today is to show Russia's superiority over the rest of the world" he said.

Old Settlers' Music Maker Here Too

Not only will the Old Settlers be here Tuesday but their music as well!

On display at the Campbell Hardware is an accordian and banjo both of which are over 100 years old. They were loaned to the store for their float on Old Settlers' Day by a resident in Sonora.

To see how the '49ers made with the music drop by the Campbell Hardware. Both instruments will be in the Hardware float Tuesday.

Red Cross Appoints Jewell To Head Campbell Drive From Feb. 28 to March 10

Henry Jewell, sales manager at Mathis Real Estate, was appointed chairman of the Campbell Red Cross campaign for 1949. News of the appointment reached Campbell this week from Alislair R. Anderson, managing director of the Red Cross, San Jose.

"The Campbell Red Cross Drive will run for two short weeks only," said Jewell. "The drive will not be a long, drawn out affair. In two weeks we expect to far exceed the goal set for us this year."

The Campbell director did not disclose the quota figures for this area. He remarked that the campaign will not be conducted on a huge pressure basis and that the final figures and the quota for Campbell will be released at the same time.

The canvassers will start to contact residents in the town and rural areas on Monday, February 28. The drive will run until Thursday, March 10.

"We expect to cover every section in Campbell," said Jewell. "One of the reasons previous campaigns failed to reach their quota was because they didn't get complete coverage. This year we will visit every home two times. If the family there still isn't home the canvasser will leave an envelope for the contribution."

Presidents of the local clubs and organizations will help Jewell in the Red Cross drive. Working too will be Mrs. Clarence Pagalde, prominent club woman in Campbell.

"We want to have the same crew, or nearly the same crew, as we had in the drive last year," the chairman remarked. "Again we will use Campbell Water company as the headquarters for the workers and a central place for collections."

Volunteers from each street in Campbell and surrounding areas, including the new sections, will contact their streets for donations. Two or three persons will be designated by Jewell to collect in the business area in Campbell.

"We hope to double the amount collected last year," said Jewell, "and last year," he added, "they went way over the top."

The victory hymn has been sung many times this week at Campbell celebrating the crushing defeat given the Washington Huskies last Friday night on the local gym floor. The final score was 41-18 in favor of the locals. The Huskies were previously undefeated as they had chalked up four straight victories in league play. This setback the Huskies a great deal as they were considered the high favorites to take the championship. This leaves only one undefeated team in the SCVAL Varsity race, the defending co-champions, San Jose Tech.

In the 130 game the Campbellites took it on the nose for the fifth straight game. This game wasacloseone with the final score Washington 23, Campbell 22.

'It's A Secret' But Artist Cobb Will Design It

R. O. Cobb was again chosen as the designer for the secret award to be given to the winner of the Whiskerino contest Tuesday, February 22, in the high school auditorium.

This year Cobb is busy working on the secret award. He specializes in all types of ceramics, plaster and rubber molds and also reproduces any type mold from an original.

"Come to the dance and see the presentation," said Hyde. "Cobb's coming up with something really unusual this year."

Couples Club Votes To Become Individual Social Organization

The newly formed Couples Club of the Congregational church voted at its meeting Friday, February 11, to become an independent organization. They formerly were associated with the Friendly Circle group of the church.

Newly elected president of the Couples Club is attorney Richard Morton. Assisting him will be vice-president Tom Jensen, secretary Robert James, and treasurer Mrs. Robert Raker.

During the evening the couples sang, were entertained with movies and slides, and played games. Dr. and Mrs. Corwin Olds showed the group slides of the south Pacific.

The third meeting of the group will be held Friday, March 11, at the church. Heading the entertainment committee will be Mr. and Mrs. William Shuey and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morton. On the food committee are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beck and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Raker.

Sarah Lester Dies In Campbell Home At Age Of 101

A native of Santa Clara valley for 66 years, Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Lester, age 101, died in the home of her daughter February 10. Mrs. Lester was one of the few remaining persons who saw Lincoln several times when she was a girl in Connecticut.

Mrs. Lester lived at the home of Mrs. H. O. Smith, San Jose-Los Gatos highway. She came to this county in 1863 with her husband, Nathan L. Lester, a pioneer fruit raiser. In 1894 they built the home at Lincoln and Curtner avenues, in what is now the Willow Glen district of San Jose, which sheltered their seven children for several decades. It remained as a landmark until last summer, when it was razed to make way for an addition to Lincoln Glen school.

For many years her August birthday was the occasion for a large gathering of children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, the latter now numbering 22.

Services were held Saturday, Feb. 12, at Williams Chapel, San Jose. Burial followed at Oak Hill Memorial Park.

Students Collect $1289 In Campbell March Of Dimes

Students at Campbell Union high school more than doubled the money collected last year in the 1949 March of Dimes. The students managed to gather $1289.06 to turn into headquarters in San Jose Tuesday.

"Jasper Ciraulo and his student council did an excellent job of collecting money for this urgent drive," said George Egling, advisor. "In 1948 they collected approximately $687 and only $150 the year before."

A large share of the donations came from the many schools in the Campbell Union elementary and high school district, said Egling. In addition the coin boxes in the merchants stores yielded $247.26.

State To Offer Teaching Course For Art Teachers

How to teach art to elementary schoolchildren will be the object of a new course to be offered during the spring quarter at San Jose State College, according to Dr. Marques E. Reitzel, head of the art department. It will be taught by Mrs. Ramona Fleeson, supervisor of art instruction in the schools of Santa Clara Caunty.

Teachers interested in acquainting themselves with the latest methods of teaching art in the elementary schools may enroll in the course now or at the beginning of the spring quarteor on April 4. The class will meet from 4:30 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and three units of college credit can be earned.

Mrs. Fleeson, who was a member of the San Jose State College Summer Session faculty in 1948, is a graduate of the University of California where she got her M.A. degree in 1933. She has also studied at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pennsylvania State College and the California School of Arts and Crafts.

Further information concerning the course may be obtained from Dr. Reitzel.

Old Settlers' Day — 1949

By Clara Beebe Baldwin

In the little town of old Campbell,
In the tang of the sweet, salt air,
They meet to renew old memories,
Of a world that was young and fair;

Their heads are crowned with silver
Boys and girls of a by-gone day,
But the wheels of time turn backward,
Again they are young and gay.

Hand clasps hand in communion,
Happy thoughts of the long gone years;
Heart beats to heart in gladness,
That is close akin to tears.

All worldly veneer is forgotten,
The Judge is just "Jim" to the boys,
The lad who played and worked with them
Sharing their sorrows and joys.

Gone is the stately matron,
'Midst these friends of long ago.
Once again she is just "little Mary,"
With Tom her devoted beau.

They linger on 'til the twilight,
Reluctant from old friends to part.
Then each goes forth to life's battles,
With a happier, lighter heart.

Campbell Victim, Hit By Auto Fights For Life

Latest reports for the County hospital indicate that Frederick Martin, 89, Route 1, Box 168, Campbell, who was struck by an auto Saturday, is still in serious condition. Martin was hit while crossing San Jose-Los Gatos road near Redding road.

Driver of the car, identified by highway patrolmen Al Koven and Doug Daly, was Robert C. Gundry, 25, 22 Pine road, Los Gatos. He was not held.

Junior Morgan and Billy Wilson, both seeing lots of action on the San Jose State basketball team, were the top offensive ends on the Spartan grid combine.

State To Give Modern Comedy March 10-14

"Right You Are! If You Think You Are," a modern comedy by Luigi Pirandello, began rehearsals this week in the San Jose State College Little Theatre.

The play will be produced March 10 through 14.

John R. Kerr, who directs the production, began an extensive rehearsal schedule with a well experienced group of student actors and actresses. Jackson Young, seen earlier this year in "King Lear" and "The Late Christopher Bean," plays the role of Lamberot Laudisi, the one character who knows truth when he sees it.

Evelyn McCurdy is Signora Frola and Edwin Williams is Ponza. These two characters present such a puzzling problem to the elite society of the little town that it became a full time occupation with the other characters of the play to find out who is telling the truth.

Don Holloday, Shirley Wilber, Gwenn Dam, Stanley Schwimmer, Riza Ellis, William Furnell, Marie Guzzetti, and Elizabeth Rehorst are the busy-bodies who attempt to decide whether Ponza's wife is or is not the daughter of Signora Frola.

Matt Pelto is the Prefect of the district, Carol Strong plays the secretive wife, and Milo Long plays the Butler.

An ultra modern setting which rols out onto the forestage is being designed by J. Wendell Johnson, and Chez Haehl is designing extremely modern clothes for the women in the play.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

WHO REMEMBERS . . .

. . . when the medicine shows came to town? You could have a tooth or two extracted free if you'd go up on the stage to be a guinea pig for a demonstration of painless dentistry. You could have corns or bunions removed painlessly, too. Between acts they sold snake oil, tooth powder and other patented medicines and drugs.

. . . when the right and left shoes were made identical and could be worn on either foot? This made it possible to wear down the heels evenly.

. . . when the American Boy magazine featured photographs of Cromwell Dixon experimenting with a bicycle-operated bi-plane? In those times aeroplanes were still pipe dreams and we were sufficiently elated over such wonders as the telephone, electric lights that replaced gas mantles and door bells that we could make by using salammoniac wet batteries in glass jars. When mother was talking on the old wall-type telephone (perhaps standing on tip-toe) we would hold the green receiver wire—and pinch it and wonder why it didn't stop the conversation.

. . . when women wore Merry Widow hats with big, broad brims and long hat pins sticking out? No masher ever dared to molest a girl in those days. In a crowded street car the hat pin stuck out farther than the lady's bustle.

. . . when some boy's marbles got on the loose and clattered all over the floor of the classroom, causing a terrible racket? Severe disciplinary measures always followed. Or, how the girls in the class would snicker, swallow their chewing gum and then ask to be excused from the room?

. . . when the ferris wheel on the midway of the 1893 World Columbian exposition in Chicago was dismantled and later removed to the St. Louis fair where it was reassembled? The wheel was 250 feet in diameter and had 36 cars with a capacity of six persons each. It revolved on an axle 33 inches in diameter and 45 feet long and weighed 56 tons. After the St. Louis fair it was wrecked and sold as scrap metal.

Cambrian 4-H Girls Demonstrate Care Of Feet, Shoes At Second Meeting Of Young Organization

A demonstration showing the proper care of feet and shoes was staged by three girls at the second meeting of the Cambrian 4-H Club, Friday night, February 11. The girls puting on the demonstration were Joan Bruner, Carol Brown and Dona Vroom, reports Karla Gay Idsinger, club reporter.

The Cambrian Club, the youngest in Santa Clara County, was organized January 14. At the February meeting fifty members and guests were present. The meeting was conducted by Daraleen Draper, club president, and was supervised by local leaders, E. Campo, Larry Lucas, and Mrs. Adamae Barnes. As a part of the opening ceremonies Dean Barnwell, club vice president, read a paper on the meaning of the 4-H Club pledge and motto.

During the business session the club members voted to take part in the Campbell "Old Settlers' Parade", February 22. It was also decided that the club will have a booth at the May Day Festival which is being sponsored by the Cambrian Dads' Club and the Home and School Club.

George D. Shambrook, Assistant Farm Advisor, told the new club how they could get a club charter. If the club qualifies it will be awarded at the end of the year. Some of the points that count for the charter are completed projects, club activities, attendance at club meetings, and re-enrollment.

There will be a pot-luck supper held in conjunction with the March club meeting. The supper will be held at 6:45 p.m. The supper will be followed by a short business meeting and program.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shewalter, leaders of the Mountain 4-H Club, and four of their members were present at the meeting. The visiting members invited the Cambrian Club to join them on a skating party in March. The invitation was accepted.

Cambrian School To Get Additional Classrooms Soon

Six new classrooms and a lavatory unit will be constructed at the Cambrian school shortly announced D. M. Bagby, principal. Bids are now being received for the construction.

"We hope the building will be completed by October 1 and the beginning of the new school term in 1949," said Bagby. "If the enrollment continues to increase at the present rate the additional classrooms will still be behind enrollment figures."

This year 460 pupils are attending classes at Cambrian which is a 57.9 per cent increase over the previous year, Bagby added. Cambrian school has classes from kindergarten through the eighth grade.

Two SJS Students Take Classes At Moorpark School

Two student teachers from San Jose State college started classes at Moorpark grammar school on Monday. Miss Barbara Breuster will take the fourth grade under Miss Wilma Harris and Miss Katherine Gamble will take fifth and sixth grades under Mrs. Verle Houghtaling.

Jack Wilbur, custodian, will replace Joaquin Miranda at the Moorpark school, according to Ben Mabie, principal. Miranda will take up duties at the San Tomas grammar school. In appreciation for his services at the school and the high regard in which he was held, an impromptu party was given for Miranda Tuesday during morning recess. Pie and coffee were served and a lovely white daphne shrub was presented to Miranda as a parting gift. He is known at the school for his love of flowers.

Afer recuperating from an illness which took her out of school in the second week of December, Mrs. Jaunita Robbins' second grade class welcomed her back Monday with a Valentine's Day party. During her absence, Mrs. Dorothy Kinne substituted as the second grade teacher.

Newly organized in the fifth grade of Moorpark under the supervision of teacher Mrs. Lavon Corbin is a science club. The children bring experiments to school and Mrs. Corbin takes them on field trips to Alum Rock, Saratoga Creek and other places. They collect plants, mushrooms, and other plants of interest.

"We need money for our club," said one of the fifth graders, "so we decided to have a snack bar every Fridey and sell sandwiches, cake, cookies and candy. It has been very successful. So far we have earned over $20. We spent for the room."

Expanded power plant now pouring 360,000 electrical horsepower into P. G. and E. lines

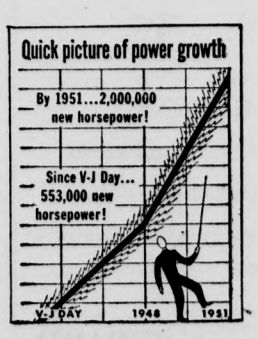

Now mightiest of all P. G. and E. powerhouses is expanded Station "P" near Hunters Point on San Francisco Bay. Last week, its second new generator went on the line to step up total output to 360,000 horsepower. That's enough energy to supply the cities of Oakland, Stockton, Tracy, Berkeley and San Jose. Expanded at a cost of $25,000,000, Station "P" uses super-heated steam to generate power, has four skyscraper boilers taller than eight-story buildings; pumps from and returns to the bay 80,000 gallons of water every minute.

1,519 men—23 crafts and trades worked on the Station "P" expansion. This is just one example of how P. G. and E.'s power-building program creates employment.

New post-war homes, farms and factories in the area are being served fully. Last year alone, for example, 60,000 new service connections were made.

Work never stops on our power-building program

The Story of Campbell

Past and Present

By BERNARD BARRETT

A most gala annual celebration in honor of "Old Settlers' Day" will be held in Campbell for four days beginning Saturday, February 19 and continuing through Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, February 20, 21, and 22.

This four day event marks the 58th commemoration of the founding of the city of Campbell. In all its history, this will be the outstanding "Old Settlers' Day."

Benjamin Campbell was the leader of the Campbell party that braved the long, hard struggle across America's wilderness of endless plain and majestic mountain ranges. He brought his party through successfully. Many of the original caravan of 250 perished along the way. This was in the year 1846.

Ensuing years of hardship, wars and personal tribulations saw the migration of many families to this region. In 1842 Benjamin Campbell settled in the Santa Clara Valley. His home was situated in a field of grain. This grain field became the city of Campbell.

In these early days of California many events transpired which directly affected the future of the small township. There was the fabulous Gold Rush of '49. From the "Historical Sketch of Campbell" by T. A. Cutting are found these tales:

THE GOLD RUSH

The idea of adobe houses did not appeal to the newcomers, and so William Campbell and his sons established a saw mill at Long Bridge above Saratoga—the first to operate in Santa Clara valley. Before the mill was completed, however, news came that gold had been discovered on the American river.

David with two companions immediately started for the gold fields, but at Benecia they found a jam of gold seekers waiting to get across the bay on an old flat boat which was making but one trip a day, and were told that their turn would not come for about three weeks. But his companions, both old sea captains, were not to be held back. They obtained a skiff and rowed across with the horses swimming behind.

Arriving at the gold fields they made a rocker from a hollod log, and each man cleaned up nearly four ounces of gold every day as long as they worked. When hot weather came they returned to the mill at Saratoga. After completing the plant they wen back to the mines and found coarse gold at Placerville, which they could pick and pan out at the rate of 50 dollars a day.

By 1851 numerous sawmills in the Santa Cruz mountains were running at full speed to furnish building lumber for San Francisco, whose population jumped from 800 in 1848 to no less than 10,000 in 1849. Such was the boom caused by the gold rush. The great redwoods cut at this time were from 400 to 800 years old.

THE CAMPBELL RANCH

After two return trips to Missouri, once by water and once by land, Benjamin Campbell in 1852 conducted to California an immigrant party consisting of the Lovels, Ruckers, Finleys and Robert Campbells. In 1851 he had purchased the quarter section of land which was later to become the site of Campbell, and imediately settled upon it. The Finleys located on a tract near by, and also the Ruckers. All of these families were related by marriages.

The Mexicans had paid very little attention to land titles before the American occupation, and consequently there were a great many conflicting claims in early days. There had been grants by the Spanish crown, Mexican grants, and grants under military law — so many grants that it finally became necessary for the United States Congress to authorize a special commission to straighten out the tangles. Before this was accomplished and clear patents secured, some of the pioneers paid for their lands two or three times. Such was the case with Benjamin Campbell, who first paid the Spaniard Galindy, then a squatter and finally the United States government.

Benjamin Campbell, son of William and founder of the town of Campbell, was born in Kentucky, October 16, 1826. He was the sixth of eight children, and accompanied his parents in their westward migrations, first to Missouri and then to California. On December 25, 1851, he married Mary L. Rucker, and shortly afterward took her over the long trail to the Santa Clara Valley, where he already had purchased 160 acres of land for a home.

THE FINLEYS

James W. Finley, a brother-in-law of Benjamin Campbell, came to the valley in 1842. His son, Newton, at that time a lad of 11, has given interesting details of pioneer days. There were then no improved roads and very few fenced fields. Tracts of land were bought at three to four dollars an acre, and artesian wells with a continuous flow of clear water were numerous. In 1874 G. A. Dabney sank a well in the heart of San Jose which proved to be the record of gushers. It was only 60 feet deep, but it defied all attempts at control and flooded everything in the neighborhood. The city council declared it a nuisance and demanded a fine of 50 dollars aday until it should be put under control. It flowed for six weeks, producing a stream of water four feet wide and six inches deep.

In the dry year of 1855 the Finleys drove their stock into the Santa Cruz mountains for better pasture, and for a time all went well. Then the grizzly bears began to prey upon the stock, and the herd had to be driven away. Mustard grew so luxuriantly in the valley that the settlers harvested it as a crop. They would cut it in he morning while damp, and thresh out the seed with flails later in the day. In 50 pound sacks it brought five cents a pound.

A hunting party consisting of the Finleys and David Campbell discovered the giant trees in the Big Basin early in the fifties. They found, also, an abundance of deer and small game and a few grizzly bears. They continued west to the ocean and then returned by way of Santa Cruz, blazing their own trail all the way.

"MOUNTAIN CHARLEY"

In 1856"Mountain Charley" and a companion named Taylor saw a grizzly bear some distance away in the bottom of a canyon. They had just killed five deer, and with the idea of bagging the bear also, they made their way toward him through the brush. He unexpectedly met them half way, and both men fired at close range. Wounded, the bear charged. Taylor climber a tree, but Charley stood his ground. He broke his rifle barrel over the animal's head and felled the bear. The bear, however, quickly regained his feet and catching Charley's head between his jaws, broke out a piece of skull bone. He then mangled both arms which the man threw up in defense. When at last Charley fell the bear disappeared.

Taylor, believing his companion beyond the need of human aid, dropped from the tree and ran for his life. When later he returned with a mountaineer who lived in the neighborhood, they found, to their surprise, that Charley was still alive. In the mountaineer's cabin he gradually recovered. For a time he wore a silver plate in the place of the missing temporal bone, but later discarded it. The wound finally healed and "Mountain Charley" lived to repeat the story of his encounter for nearly 50 years.

Such is the story of the men of those early days as set forth in Cutting's narrative. Such were the "Old Settlers."

Campbell Avenue, which is the main street, was the original driveway leading to the big Campbell ranch near Winchester Road. Campbell was laid out as a town in 1885 and a post office established. Locust and walnut trees were planted along the main thoroughfare. Some of these still stand.

In the sixties a railroad was built from San Francisco to San Jose. In 1878 a narrow gauge line was extended from San Jose to Santa Cruz, runnig through Campbell where a flag station was built.

Fraternal orders gradually took their places in the order of affairs of the town of Campbell. In 1902 the Odd Fellows put up a two-story wooden building at the corner of Campbell and First streets. It is still standing. Two years later in 1904 Charity lodge No. 362 of the Masonic order was chartered. The Country Woman's Club drew up its constitution and erected a building to house their meeting place and a library. This was in 1905 and is still standing today and in use.

1914—World War I—and in 1918 when the United States entered the conflict, Campbell generously oversubscribed in the Liberty Loan drives. Many sons of the town took places alongside other of their countrymen to fight the battle . . . "to end all wars."

The Kiwanis Club founded a chapter of its International in 1926. One of its presidents, Mr. T. A. Cutting, is the recognized historian of Campbell. Many of the facts of this history were taken from his chronology.

Today—Campbell is represented by other fraternal orders such as Rotary, American Legion Post 596 and the Chamber of Commerce. All of these organizations are equally represented in the women's auxiliary counterparts.

The history of Campbell shows a growing interest in the potential good living available in this area. Subdivisions, industries, educational and recreational facilities are on the increase. This year of 1949 will emblazon the memory of the original Old Settlers, James W. Finley, "Mountain Charley," Henry Hutton, Reuben McCoy, Larry Willett, Mrs. Charles W. Sutter, Joseph Bohnett, Zeri Hamilton, the Bollingers, the Paynes, Sarah Winchester (of Mystery House fame), and hundreds of others. All of them will be symbolized in this grandest of all Old Settlers' Day.

During the four fun-packed days of celebration, there will be a gigantic carnival, a huge parade featuring the famous 35-foot long California Centennial float, a kiddies' pet parade, model airplane contests, an outstanding presentation by the Footlighters of Our Hearts Were Young and Gay on Monday night, February 21 and Friday night, February 25. The climax will come Tuesday evening at the Campbell High School where the Big Dance is to be held. The American Legion Post 596 is sponsoring the dance under the chairmanship of Bernard Barrett and in cooperation with Harold Strickland, chairman of the Queen's Contest. The most popular girl in Campbell will be determined by the number of tickets she sells to the dance. Each ticket sale represents one vote. The winner takes on the title of Queen and many gifts have been given by Campbell's merchants. The Queen will ascend her throne and be crowned at the dance.

Jay Kanney and his orchestra, the Bay Area's outstanding music-makers, will furnish the dance music. On the program will be little, blonde 10-year-old Deana Stearns. Deana specialized in Hawaiian dances and has appeared extensively in the Islands and in numerous veterans' hospitals here in the States.

During these four days of fun, today's Campbell settlers can look back over the years and be reminded of the glory of those who braved the rigors of a wild civilization to open up this valley of bounty. Those were the men upon whose memory our commemoration this year is significant of progress. And to such men as "Mountain Charley," a salute to the "Old Settlers."

Mrs. Ida Levenberg Presides Over Monthly Meeting Of Footlighters; Art Tindall Reports On New Play

On Tuesday, February 8, the Footlighters, drama group of Campbell, met for its regular monthly meeting in Mrs. Ida Price's barn on Dry Creek Road.

Mrs. Ida Levenberg, president, presided over the business meeting. Art Tindall, assistant director of the forthcoming play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," which the Footlighters will present in conjunction with Campbell's Old Settlers' Day celebration, reported on the progress being made in rehearsals. All the characters are well cast and cooperation in their work is splendid. Committee reports were given by all committee chairmen of the play.

It was voted that Footlighters will enter a float in the parade on February 22nd.

Elda Beth Hill reported that all the play books are now catalogued and on the shelves for use. The library of the group is growing nicely.

It was reported to the group that Mrs. Lillian Morris, who had a lead in the last play, has had a serious operation and is recovering nicely. She was returned to her home Monday.

Highlight of the evening was the announcement that a check for $346.31, the Footlighters' proceeds from the last play, was turned over to the Campbell Union high school to be used in improving the stage and properties there.

Art Tindall had charge of the program for the evening. He presented a scene from "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." It was enjoyed by all present and proved to them that the play will be well worth seeing.

Thais and Les Ackerman served refreshments. The next meeting was announced for March 8 with Veva and Dean Chamberlin as host and hostess.

Prizes for Campbell's Queen-for-a-day are rapidly mounting. Not only will she receive a complete outfit from head to toe and have her hair dressed but she will also receive gifts galore from many Campbell merchants.
